

SECRET

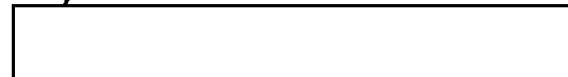

NATIONAL PHOTOGRAPHIC INTERPRETATION CENTER

CIA INSTRUCTION NO. 1-1

24 June 1965

SUBJECT: Change of Division Name

Effective immediately the CIA Photographic Intelligence Division is renamed the CIA IMAGERY ANALYSIS DIVISION. The abbreviated designation will be CIA/IAD. Revised mission and functions are attached.

25X1

ARTHUR C. LUNDAHL
Assistant Director
Photographic Intelligence

Attachment

Distribution: No. 3

Declassification Review by NGA

GROUP 1
Excluded from automatic downgrading and declassification

SECRET

MPB

~~SECRET~~

CIA IMAGERY ANALYSIS DIVISION
CIA/IAD

MISSION

25X1 The CIA Imagery Analysis Division is responsible for the analysis of photography, [ ] collected from [ ] systems; producing intelligence reports therefrom utilizing pertinent collateral information; and providing imagery analysis services in support of the Central Intelligence Agency. Taker
Chris

FUNCTIONS

The CIA Imagery Analysis Division shall:

- 25X1
1. Produce departmental imagery intelligence in support of CIA through analysis of [ ] imagery and utilization of collateral information. 25X1
  2. Provide imagery analysis personnel for special support to clandestine operations.
  3. Provide required personnel for assignment to the NPIC Photographic Analysis Group.
  4. Maintain active liaison with CIA Headquarters to provide imagery analysis support and services to CIA components.
  5. Assist CIA requesters in formulating requirements for imagery analysis and services; receive, process and activate CIA requirements for [ ] imagery analysis and services either departmentally or for NPIC action. 25X1
  6. Conduct substantive intelligence briefings derived from imagery analysis.
  7. Provide representation to and liaison with NPIC on CIA imagery analysis matters.

~~SECRET~~